Regarding independent claim 1, as applicant has noted on page 16, paragraphs 1-3, Emmelmann, DuFresne, and other cited prior arts, taken alone or in combination, fail to disclose:

“Processing the dynamic web page content file to produce a source code file containing source code that represent control objects declared in the web page content file” in combination with (page 17, 1st paragraph) “compiling the source code file to produce a class from which a set of hierarchical objects can be instantiated to produce web page authoring language that produces a web page for display”

Similarly, such limitations are recited in all other independent claims, claims 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and 14.

Remaining claims, claim 15-19 are dependent claims and thus allowed.
